

AMENDMENTS TO THE SPECIFICATION

Please cancel the Abstract and substitute the following Abstract:

A method for chemical analysis of fluids utilized in hydrocarbon exploration and production in which microfluidic systems designed to react to specific characteristics of a fluid are introduced into fluid samples or during operations. The microfluidic systems are then recovered and subjected to analysis to permit one to measure the desired characteristics.